Physicians Demand Health Plans Stop Breaking the Law

The Black Voice News

COLTON

Recently, the California Medical Association (CMA) petitioned the Department of Corporations (DOC) as the first step in a legal effort to force the DOC to enforce existing state laws that protect physicians and patients from illegal and unfair contracts that are dangerous to medical care.

The 35,000-member CMA represents physicians from all regions of the state including over 1,800 physicians who belong to the San Bernardino County Medical Society (SBCMS).

"The DOC has repeatedly failed to enforce provisions that protect patient care and the patient-physician relationship," said Gary Krieger, M.D., a Long Beach pediatrician and CMA officer. "Much of the attention over the past couple of years has been on proposed new laws and reforms demanded by the public. Our focus today is on making the DOC enforce the laws that are already on the books to protect patients and physicians, but which the agency has repeatedly failed to enforce despite the negative consequences to the public."

The CMA petition declares that many health plans are not complying with the provisions of the Knox-Keene Act of 1975, the law that regulates all HMOs and health care service plans in California. In particular, the petition -- which the DOC must respond to within 30 days and could lead to a hearing by an administrative law judge -- notes several practices tolerated by the DOC that are illegal and of critical concern to CMA and San Bernardino County Medical Society (SBCMS) physicians.

Physicians often have no choice but to participate in a plan whose contract contains many unlawful provisions. For example, as a result of consolidation, the top five health plans in California control over 86 percent of the marketplace. Physicians must also often sign on with health plans to continue to serve their patients of many years who have changed plans as a result of new employment or other factors.

CITED COMPLAINTS

- Medical treatment decisions are being made by health plans, often by non-medical personnel, without the consideration or judgement of the treating physician who has actually examined and spoken with the patient. Knox-Keene clearly states that physicians must be the determiner of medical care, and that medical decisions cannot be unduly influenced by fiscal and administrative management.
- Contract clauses that state that the health plan is not liable for damages related to their decisions or which place liability onto the physician even if the health plan overrides the doctor's preferred treatment decision.
- Health plans' ability to unilaterally alter contract terms without the consent -- or even knowledge -- of the physician bound by the contract, and refusal to disclose essential contract terms such as the physician's reimbursement rate.
- Disruption of the continuity of care by health plans and the imposition of unfair penalties upon physicians.

Arias Resigns from City Council

The Black Voice News

SAN BERNARDINO

"It is with deep regret that I submit this letter of resignation as a member of the City Council representing the Third Ward of the City of San Bernardino," stated Rita Arias in a letter to Mayor Judith Valles on October 16, 1998. Her resignation is effective October 19, the day of the council meeting.

Norma Archie, a resident of the sixth ward and member of the Northwest Redevelopment PAC Committee said, "I'm glad she resigned because Rita did not want to do anything for Blacks in this city. Rita is the type of person that will keep division between Latinos and Blacks and this is not good for our city. You have to work with everyone regardless of their race. When we needed her help for a project in the six ward, Rita said she could not help Blacks if no Hispanics were involved. This is a racist attitude and she should not be allowed to participate in the welfare-to-work program."

Arias has had a rocky road since being elected to the council in 1995. The late Ralph Hernandez challenged her residency before she was ever elected but the District Attorney's office refused to investigate the matter at the time. However, now the District Attorney's office has filed charges against Arias for animal cruelty. For the past two years, Arias' small dog "cuddles" has been so grossly neglected that the hair on it's hind legs had fused the legs together. This prevented the dog from urinating in a squatting position. When they found the dog lying dead in her supposedly Third Ward home, maggots were coming from both ends. Another time Arias was warned by a judge for not appearing in court for a civil lawsuit. She had to pay a court judgement of over eight thousand dollars to the San Bernardino Central Credit Union.

According to the neighbors of the Third Ward house, they have never seen Arias there. Maybe Ralph Hernandez was right all along.

Arias closed her letter by saying: "the city is moving in the right direction under the leadership of the new Mayor Judith Valles, and I considered it as a personal gain to have served with her and so many other wonderful people at City Hall."

Councilman Beaty Released From Hospital

The Black Voice News

RIVERSIDE

Chuck Beaty, City Councilman who was wounded during a shoot out on October 6, has been released from the hospital. Beaty was reported to be in good condition at the time of release.

Beaty was hit by bullets in the face, back and side. The gunman Joseph Neale, Jr. remains hospitalized but is expected to be released to face arraignment hearing.

Watch Out For Your Dog

Many of us often questioned the motives of the late Ralph Hernandez, or the way he went about taking on issues. In the case of Rita Arias' residency when Ralph first sought the District Attorney's help to prevent her from running for the office, many people would not listen to his allegations that Rita did not live in the ward. Some say it was because the established political community wanted Rita to represent the citizens from the third ward. If that is true, Ralph was vindicated in his claim that Rita was living in the home (on Lynwood Avenue in Highland) owned by her late husband Jess Arias, who was the first male Latino to serve on the San Bernardino City Council.

Many people do not understand how or why the ward system was first instituted in San Bernardino. It was because at that time Whites would not vote for Latino or Blacks and neither group could raise the money in which to compete with well established Whites from the other side of town. Also at this time Blacks or Latinos could not live on the other side of town. The ward system allowed the people of the two westside communities to select their representation. The walls of segregation have been torn down allowing anyone, no matter what race, to live anywhere in town. But, Blacks and Latinos that moved to the other side of town still wanted to represent the westside residents, but did not want to stay on the westside. This was the case with Rita Arias. She sought to serve the community she loves but does not live with anymore. I'm sure she has sentimental feelings toward the community where her late husband, Jesse Arias also served. She ran for the office and was elected to serve the people of the third ward. She should have set up housekeeping in the ward and visited the dwelling everyday, to at least feed her dog Cuddles if she was afraid to spend the night. According to the neighbors they never saw anyone at the place Rita claims to have rented for the purpose of living while serving on the council.

It is clear that Rita should have paid more attention to her dog Cuddles than to try and represent the people she did not live with. It is ironic that her dog took her out of office. In the book of Philippians, Chapter 3 verse 2, Paul the writer warns us to: "Watch out for those dogs." Arias did not watch her dog and he took her out.

Hugh Price Visits Inland Empire

Hugh B. Price, President/CEO of the National Urban League was the keynote speaker at the recently held annual dinner. Lois Carson, Director of Riverside Community Action Agency and Former San Bernardino County Community College Trustee Board of Education and Jim King, President, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties Urban League.

Frank Stallworth, Representative of State Senator Ruben Ayala, Hugh Price, Arnold Dixon, Regional Manager of Southern California Gas Company and Jim King.

Ray Turner, Pastor of Temple Missionary Baptist Church in San Bernardino was out to support his good friend Pastor Chuck Singleton of Loveland Church in Fontana. Pastor Singleton received the Urban League's Whitney M. Young Award for his service to the community.

The Honorable Rod Wright, Assemblyman and The Honorable Kevin Murray, Assemblyman of Los Angeles came to the Inland Empire to support the Honorable Joe Baca, Assemblyman for State Senator. The Senate will be vacated by Ruben Ayala who is retiring due to term limits.

800 Underprivileged Children Shopped 'Til They Dropped

The Black Voice News

SAN BERNARDINO

As part of a countywide project for Second Chance Week, which runs until the October 25th, 800 underprivileged children from the County of San Bernardino received clothing and new shoes while shopping at one of the four "2nd Chance Stores" in the county.

The 2nd Chance Stores strategically located in Twentynine Palms, Rancho Cucamonga, Victorville, and San Bernardino, were stocked by volunteers with clothing donations from the communities of San Bernardino County. Wal-Mart, a corporate sponsor of Make A Difference Day, also generously donated shoes and other items for use in the 2nd Chance Stores.

"Last year our single 2nd Chance Store was able to help more than 150 children," said Susan Patane, Education/Community Relations Manager from NORCAL/San Bernardino, Inc. "This year, we have quadrupled our efforts, which means that more kids went home with smiles on their faces and more members of our community had the opportunity to get involved. I am so proud of the level of involvement from both the county and it's residents."

The second annual Second Chance Week, an effort to increase public awareness about reuse, resale and repair and the benefits they bring to communities were held from October 17 until October 25, 1998.

In an effort to reach the 50% waste reduction goal by the year 2000, The County of San Bernardino Waste System Division and NORCAL/San Bernardino, Inc. have developed programs to promote reuse, repair and recycling. Fortunately, these efforts coincide with the goals of Make A Difference Day and Second Chance Week giving birth to programs that not only benefit the environment by reducing waste, but also benefit the residents in each of the 24 cities in San Bernardino County by making lightly used items available for donation that would otherwise be thrown away. As part of Second Chance Week, The County of San Bernardino Waste System Division and NORCAL/San Bernardino Inc., a "public-private partnership," provides 800 needy children with clothing and new shoes at four Second Chance Store locations.

HISTORICAL OVERVIEW

Second Chance Week

Bernardino County's Make A Difference Day/Second Chance Week projects, please contact Susan Patane at (909) 386-8605.

Second Chance Week is an effort to increase public awareness about reuse, resale and repair and the benefits they bring to communities. Some of these benefits include providing low cost or no-cost materials to those in need reducing disposal costs for those with reusable materials they no longer need and saving landfill space. Second Chance Week was developed and is coordinated statewide by the Local Government Commission, a nonprofit organization based in Sacramento with an excellent track record in producing community service programs. The second annual Second Chance Week began October 17-25, 1998 as local government agencies, schools, nonprofit organizations, and businesses throughout California hold events to encourage people to reuse, resell or repair materials that might otherwise be discarded.

Black Voice News 1998 Election Sample Ballot

This is a partial list of the Black Voice News' voter recommendations for November's election.

YES ON 1A. As the conditions of our schools get worse, the passage of this proposition is critical to the education of our children. We must give our children and the educational staff a better environment in which to teach and learn. We are recommending a YES VOTE ON 1A.

A YES VOTE ON PROPOSITION 2 will help protect our great highway system and stop the bureaucrats from siphoning off previously allocated funds for some other projects. With the increased traffic in the Inland Empire we will need highway improvement in our community. We are recommending a YES VOTE ON 2.

NO RECOMMENDATION ON 3.

Current law authorized the use of specified traps to capture or kill certain fur-bearing and nongame mammals. This measure will place new restrictions on the use of traps and poisons. If you know anything about hunting I'm sure you have seen or even set one of those steel jawed traps that when tripped closes tightly around the animals leg. Some animals will even chew their leg off to get away. We are recommending a YES VOTE ON 4.

YES ON PROPOSITION 5, The Indian Self-Reliance Initiative is as American as apple pie. Those individuals who oppose it want Native Americans to continue to rely, as in past years on the man for their livelihood. History tells us that the Indian Nations were relegated to land with limited natural resources by the U. S. Government. For over two hundred years the many treaties signed by our government with the Indians have been broken because of the almighty dollar. We, Black Americans, know about broken promises, we remember the forty acres and a mule, and now that the gaming industry has corrected the poverty rate of the Indian nation, you guessed it, the government wants to regulate it and take it over. We must join in the efforts of our Native American brothers and sisters to support this measure and vote YES ON 5.

There is currently no law on the books in California at the present time that prevents the killing of horses for human consumption. This proposition will prohibit both the killing of horses for eating by people or selling them to other states for the same purpose. I'm not up to eating horse meat, but if you are power to you. NO RECOMMENDATION ON 6.

We have had cleaner air in the past several years and if you would like to see that trend continue you will vote for this proposition. Even though it allocates $218 million dollars for the replacement of older vehicles and put in place new ways to get rid of agricultural waste it will be worth the cost. If you have asthma or any respiratory problems you will appreciate the passage of this

Air Quality Improvement Act. We are recommending a YES VOTE ON 7.

When I found out that Pete Wilson was behind this proposition I knew it would not be good for Blacks in California. It talks about class size reduction, a new credentialing process for teachers and a estimated cost of $60 million dollars per year to start. It also will place too much authority in this Governor appointed position and take it from your local elected schoolboard members. VOTE NO ON 8.

NO ON PROPOSITION 9, seldom do we get and opportunity to have a direct vote to help ensure lower rates for our utilities. A No vote on 9 will help maintain progress already made with rate reduction and continuity with other service currently provided. It is estimated that if this proposition is to pass taxpayers would have to pick up a previously sold tax bond of $6 billion dollars. I'm sure none of us have that kind of money to throw around. Vote for your pocket like others do. VOTE NO ON 9.

The passage of Proposition 10 will more than double the funding for anti-tobacco advertising to help fight teen smoking. More money will be made available for breast cancer research and it will not take anything away from our schools as stated by the people in opposition. We are recommending a YES VOTE ON 10.

Family Talks

Joseph A. Bailey, II M.D.

Affection and love that give rise to bonding, attention, caring, and nurturing are good. Pain, suffering, and destruction are evil. But more information about good and evil is needed to help us rise above racism -- how to identify evil (especially the masked and concealed types); how to reduce the powers of all evils; how to get around them; and how to prevent evil from starting. We should understand good because there can be good intentions with bad results or bad intentions with good results. Nor ought we read into others the good or evil that animates us. Making mistakes in such interpretations of human character invariably carries us into wrong problem-solving directions. Orientation starts with putting terms in their proper worlds. In the world of absolutes, that which is opposite to love is the absence of love, not hate or evil. In the earth world, the opposite of evil is good. The parent of earthly moral good is love. The absence of love results in behaviors that are bad, hateful, injurious, sinful, malicious, and evil.

People doing bad things to people exercise a Free-Will Choice that results in Moral Evil. To be differentiated are Physical or Natural Evils such as earthquakes, floods, droughts, volcanos, and other natural disasters as well as disease and death that destroy and ruin. Moral Goodness is a reflection of a loving heart. People with moral goodness walk a tight rope between "too much" and "too little" expressions of human nature (those tendencies all of us are born with). Examples are fears, desire, boldness, anger, pity, pleasures, and pains. To have these feeling and to take action at the proper time on the proper occasion towards the proper people for the proper motive and in the proper way is to have them in proper measure. Having this Proper Measure Between the Extremes is what characterizes Moral Goodness. Note that within the areas of "too much" and "too little" there are far more ways of going wrong (i.e. doing bad and evil) than there are on the tightrope of being good. Thus, whereas Walking The Tightrope of Right is Difficult, Walking on the Grounds of Wrong is Easy. It is difficult to hit the bull's-eye, and easy to miss it.

Etymologically, the word

"evil" comes from the sense of "up and over" or "down and under." This refers to exceeding bounds or limits so as to cause vice and deviation from nature. Both are of varying degrees on the negative scale. For example, there are evils in every kind of political and legal system, but not all are of the same nature and danger. Nevertheless, Moral Evil is either the absence of or opposite of reality and moral goodness. Such standards are made by the general agreement of the morally wise. Otherwise, the "taste" of goods and evils greatly depends on who is doing the judging. Typically, such non-moral evilness affects only material and social well-being.

In summary, moral goodness is an artistic masterpiece of character because nothing needs to be added to it or taken away from it. Morally evil people are intentionally wicked and have no sense of guilt. Good people who are periodically bad, in addition to having guilt, have a flaw in their character that makes them less than what they can be and what they ought to be.

Two San Bernardino Schools Win Exemplary Honors

The Black Voice News

SAN BERNARDINO

Two elementary schools in San Bernardino, Cypress and Roosevelt, are among only 10 schools in California to be named 1998 Physical Education and Health Education Exemplary Schools. State Superintendent of Instruction Delaine Eastin says these schools have "programs designed to provide students with the knowledge and abilities needed to maintain active and healthy lifestyles. The healthy, physically active child is more likely to be academically motivated, alert, and successful."

Eastin goes on to say, "These award-winning schools have taken an active role in developing and promoting the physical, mental, emotional, and social health of their students."

Fueled by research showing that healthy children are more successful students, the award was initiated in 1996 in an effort to identify and recognize schools with exemplary programs in both health education and physical education. Arlan Anderson, principal of Cypress Elementary, says his school has placed a very heavy emphasis on good health and fitness. "Our physical education teacher, Amy Sodek, is excellent and the skills she teaches including social skills and character education are reinforced by our teachers in the classroom and at recess."

At Roosevelt School, Principal Jerry Kasinski also credits his physical education teacher, Victoria Gilliland, for a strong program and an emphasis on building good sportsmanship as well as good athletes. "She teaches the students about character education and habits for good living."

The award program is a collaborative effort by the California Department of Education, the American Cancer Society -- California Division, and the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. A grant to support the program has also been provided by the Wellness Foundation.

SBVC Co-Hosts National Conference

The Black Voice News

SACRAMENTO

The San Bernardino Community College District, co-host of an upcoming national conference on Hispanics in higher education sponsored by the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities, has helped the national organization secure a $5,000 contribution from Southern California Edison. The funds will be used by HACU to help underwrite its upcoming national conference in San Diego.

"As co-host of the upcoming HACU conference and a recognized Hispanic Serving Institution, we want to thank Southern California Edison for their generous support," said Dr. Stuart M. Bundy, Chancellor of SBCCD. "Through our partnerships with corporations like SCE and our affiliations with groups like HACU, we at SBCCD are better able to meet the needs of all our students."

Leading the SBCCD delegation to the HACU conference will be Frank Reyes, special assistant to Dr. Bundy at the community college district.

"This year's HACU conference will explore programs that promote the development of effective Hispanic leaders and will focus on new and innovative paradigms for success in higher education," said community college district and with HACU."

"We at SCE believe that investment in education is an investment in the future of our communities," said Ray Gonzalez, regional manager for Southern California Edison's Eastern Region, Reyes. "We thank Southern California Edison for their continued support of our work, here at the

which includes San Bernardino and the Inland Empire. "We are proud to support the work of the San Bernardino Community College District and HACU in their efforts to increase the opportunities for advancement to the students they serve."

Over the past ten years, Edison has contributed more than $10 million to education, providing over $500,000 in scholarship money, $150,000 in grants to colleges and universities that encourage collaboration with K-12 schools and the community-at-large, $100,000 in funding for at-risk youth programs, and more.

The time has come for full, open competition in telecommunications.

That's why we've spent millions of dollars opening our local markets to competition. And we continue to invest in bringing a fully competitive marketplace to telecommunications.

It's no secret that an openly competitive marketplace benefits all of us. It brings more choices. A broader range of services. Lower prices.

Clearly our entry in an openly competitive long distance market is good for consumers in general. What about California in particular?

Nobody is more committed to open competition than we are.

Already, prominent economic forecasters project that an openly competitive telecommunications market means 82,000 new jobs for the California workforce. And $300 million in savings to California consumers.

No wonder so many local and state organizations, including the NAACP-California State Conference, the California Small Business Association, and over 100 California Chambers of Commerce, are anxious to see us compete in long distance.

Because competition isn't just good for telecommunications. It's good for California.

16th Street S.D.A.: Good News of Upcoming Events

The Black Voice News

SAN BERNARDINO

Recently, 16th St. S.D.A. Church newly elected officers conducted its dedication service by Dr. David Taylor and congregation with the inspirational Litany. The dedicatory prayer was given by Elder E. Dean Peeler, pastor of 16th St. Church. The new officers began their duties this month.

On October 31, 1998 beginning at 5:30 p.m., the King's Carnival will be coming to 16th Street church. This will be the Third Annual, "Don't Do Halloween," celebration that is free and open to the public. This special Halloween alternative is an evangelistic outreach to the community.

In addition, the newly elected Community Service Assistant Director, Rebecca Factory is encouraging the need for more volunteers who like to sew and cook; plus, persons who have some arts and craft skills to dedicate their time for Thanksgiving baskets. Sign up dates are November 2-16. The toy drive dates will be December 1-21.

16th Street Seventh-Day Adventist Church is located at the corner of 16th Street and Medical Center Drive in the City of San Bernardino. For more information on upcoming events, contact (909) 888-0084.

Former Riverside North star Chris Claiborne returned an interception for a touchdown.

USC and UCLA both win, Face tough test this week

What a game!!! The UCLA Bruins outlasted the stubborn Oregon Ducks, who just refused to fly away at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena. The game had more twist than an old Chuck Berry video, back and forth they went until UCLA's Chris Sailer kicked a 24-yard field goal to win it in overtime, 41-38, for the undefeated Bruins (5-0, 2-0 Pac-10). UCLA faces California at Cal this weekend. USC clobbered Washington State, 42-14, as former Riverside North star Chris Claiborne snatched two interceptions, one he returned of a touchdown (his second touchdown of the season). It will be USC's turn to try and stop the high flying Oregon Ducks offense at Oregon this weekend.

Another World Title

ONE OF THE BEST TEAMS EVER: The 1998 New York Yankees won more regular season games than any team in the history of the American League.

National League champions, San Diego, on verge of a sweep by New York

By LELAND STEIN III
Black Voice News Sports Editor

SAN DIEGO - The San Diego Padres are not dead, but they do need mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and, a miracle. The odds . . . oh . . . the odds.

The wonderful Padres' season appears to be ready to come to a crashing halt. In fact, history says that no team in Major League Baseball's Fall Classic has ever come back from a 3-0 deficit to win the World Series.

"It's going to be pretty tough for them to win four in a row," Yankee's Chili Davis said. "They've got to come out and just play excellent ball tomorrow, because we're not going to let up."

The New York Yankees, a franchise that has dominated baseball through out its history is set to lay the finishing touches on the tough Padres. Scott Brosius' three-run blast in the eighth inning fueled a 5-4 comeback win in game three before 64,667 at Qualcomm Stadium and dimmed even further the already slim hopes of the San Diego faithful.

"Well, it's fun," said Brosius, who also hit a solo shot in the seventh. "(It's) something I've done in my backyard one hundred times. You never know if you are going to ever get an opportunity to do it in a game like this. To come out and do something like this and help your team win, feels real good."

The Yankee's win was their seventh consecutive in a World Series and inched them closer to the record of nine set by the Cincinnati Reds (Game 7 in 1975; all 4 games in 1976 and 1990). New York started its streak in Game three of the Atlanta Braves series in 1996.

History has been all over the Padres in this series against the historic Yankee mystique. The team that has played in 192 World Series games - winning 23 titles - was up against a franchise (San Diego) that had only appeared in one Series in 1984, losing 4-1 to the Detroit Tigers.

The Yankees, based on their outstanding regular season is the best team in baseball and should beat the capable Padres. The New Yorkers won an amazing 114 games during the regular season breaking the American league record set by the Cleveland Indians in 1954. The Bronx bombers came within three wins of breaking the MLB record of 116 set by the Chicago Cubs in 1906.

"They are an outstanding team," said Padres' head man Bruce Bochy. "They've had a great year. Again tonight we had them, and they came back."

He continued: "Brosius had a big day against us. But, there are no excuses, they're so solid throughout that line-up. They don't depend on their three, four guys throughout the line-up, they get contributions from everyone, and they got it tonight."

This year's version of the Bronx bombers is indeed a team, There's no 50 or 40 or even a 30 home run hitter on the Yankees. They became the highest home run hitting team (207) without a single player with at least 30.

The team concept has shown through out the first three games of this Series. Each game another Yankee has stepped up and produced the big hits needed to become World Champions. This fact was not lost on head coach Joe Torre as he talked about his team's victory.

"You have to go back to the old (Boston) Celtics who always had a bunch of guys averaging 16,18,19 points a game, and they'd always win games as a team," Torre said. "This ball club is going to take MVP votes away from each other. Still, it's a great feeling for a manager to know when these guys come on the field the only thing they are interested in is winning the game. They don't care who gets the winning hit."

Torre added: "If our club plays the way it is capable of playing we'll be fine. Our success has been based on having five quality starters go out there everyday, not just riding one guy. That's why we have won so many games."

A win would give the Yankees an overall record of 125-50 - at .714, the best winning percentage since Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig led the 1927 Yankees to a .722 overall mark (114-44).

No matter the records, percentages or Yankee lore, San Diego was in control and had a chance to win this one. Baseball's best closer this season was finally in the game, protecting a 3-2 lead to ensure a victory that would bring the Padres hope again in this World Series.

On a night when everything seemed to be going right for San Diego -- great plays, clutch pitching by Sterling Hitchcock, a big rally in the bottom of the sixth -- Brosius and the Yankees ruined it.

"Trevor Time" flashed on the scoreboard and "Hell's Bells" blared from the loudspeakers as Trevor Hoffman marched to the mound in the eighth inning Tuesday night.

"When they played that death march as they brought him in," Yankee's owner George Steinbrenner said, referring to the blaring "Hell's Bells" by AC/DC that echoed through Qualcomm when Hoffman took the mound, "I thought of the WWF or whatever it is when The Undertaker comes into the ring - I thought that was who they were bringing in."

Trevor Hoffman, who blew just one out of 55 save opportunities during the regular season and is in the running for National League's Cy Young award, served up Brosius' smash. "Did I let people down?" Hoffman asked after the game. "That's usually the case when I don't do my job."

Said Bochy: "Anytime it doesn't work out with Trevor on the mound, you're surprised. It's tough. This game reaches in and grabs your guts out."

Of the 18 previous times a team led the World Series 3-0, 15 ended in sweeps. The other three went five games.

So the Yankees have good reason to feel good about their position now.

"We've got a lot of momentum going and we're feeling pretty good right now," Martinez said. "The funny thing was after they took the lead, no one panicked in the dugout or said, 'There goes our chance.' Everybody just stayed focused and we knew that we would put one more rally together."

Is baseball finally back as the All-America pastime? Has this season of baseball delights reawakened the slumbering baseball fans across the country? Because of what Sammy Sosa and Mark McGwire has done. I think the energy is back in the baseball fan. But The energy the Padres need to set history may have left with Brosius's home run.

STILL POSITIVE: San Diego's star hitter Tony Gwynn says his team has every right to feel proud and will not go down without a fight, no matter the odds.

Tyson Granted License to Box

LAS VEGAS - What's going on? Maybe it was a carry over or reverber from the analyze . . . and analyze . . . and analyze President Clinton fiasco.

Tyson has been analyzed and dissected and reanalyzed to the point of nausea. A psychiatric report was even completed on him, and, that was even a point of contention as Tyson's handlers wanted to keep the report private but others wanted the report made public.

It was clear to me what the fair and right course of action was, and finally after much to do and verbal sparring, Mike Tyson has been granted a license to fight by the Nevada Athletic Commission on an approval vote of 4-1. Tyson was near tears when he heard the decision and said he is very happy and ready to go on with his life.

What took this panel of five so long to do what was right?

At the first hearing in early September the interchange between Tyson, his handlers and the Nevada Commission, was testy to say the least.

The Commission wanted complete assurances that Tyson would never commit another error in judgement again in his entire life.

Tyson has apologized and apologized until he's become blue in the face. How many times can a person say they are sorry for a misdeed? Sure it (the bite on Holyfield's ear) was beyond the bounds of what is civilized; however, Tyson can't take back what's occurred, and, in fact, has had to live with the personal humiliation of his wrongful action in the ring.

At the hearing in Las Vegas he expressed his remorse and apologized again. Still one of the Commissioners, who did indeed voted against Tyson's reinstatement, hassled and harangued Tyson, till he unleashed a plea to the instigator to stop "humiliating me."

Tyson is a fighter. It's all he knows. It's his meal ticket and the means to support his family. Every person deserves a second chance in life.

Of course, Tyson has a long ledger of problems outside the ring, but he has been a fair and straight forward boxer his whole career - minus the one exception. Tyson has paid for that one exception in a huge and public way, in many cases unlike any other athlete. The $3 million fine (the largest ever assessed), the year and a half suspension, the loss of a projected $60 million in potential income, and, probably worst of all, yet another year of inactivity.

Mike Tyson says he needs to work out his personal and financial issues before scheduling his next fight.

Some of the most emotional moments came when Mike Tyson's wife, Monica testified. She told commissioners, "I know from the bottom of my heart that Mike is sorry," she added, "He's no more angry than the next man in normal situations."

When Tyson's lawyer asked Monica what kind of man he is, Tyson broke the tension by making a funny face which made everyone laugh, including commissioners. Monica proceeded to say, he is funny smart and shy. "He has the biggest heart, but nobody gets to see that side of him, but me."

Another humorous moment came when Tyson's lawyer took an opportunity to humanize Tyson with a few "Mike moments", as he later referred to in his closing statement.

When talking about Tyson's motorcycle, his lawyer said, "You are a regular James Bond." Tyson replied, "No sir I'm a really desperate man at the moment," laughter filled in the room.

A couple of familiar faces in the history of sports appeared on behalf of Mike Tyson. Magic Johnson stood before the commission and said he plans to steer Mike Tyson through financial difficulty by helping him become a business man. Johnson says he will help him choose the right accountants and financial advisors. He also said, "Mike is the only guy I know who can make $200 million dollars, but he doesn't want it . . . he wants to give it all away," recalling how Tyson would give money to friends, not knowing he'd have to pay taxes on those gifts.

More testimony came from Muhammad Ali. His wife read a written statement saying how he had been hurt and disappointed by Tyson's mistakes over the last ten years. However, he said, he had always hoped Tyson could come to him for mentoring, that he would be in Tyson's corner. Ali said Tyson should get his license back because a man's dignity often comes from his work. Tyson's dignity comes from boxing.

A report presented by Dr. Ronald Schouten of Massachusetts General Hospital said Mike Tyson is a sane man. Dr. Schouten told the commission that Tyson is taking responsibility for his mistake in the ring, that he is not placing blame on anyone but himself. Dr. Schouten said the biting incident was not a premeditated act. He said Tyson simply "went over the edge and reverted to street fighting".

In closing statements, Commissioner Elias Ghanem told him, "Mike you have made a lot of mistakes in your life . . . most of your mistakes are your own making."

Glenn Carano said that Tyson has met his burden, he's mentally fit and that he can compete within rules of the commission. Carano made the motion to grant Tyson's petition for reinstatement, to pay the required filing fee, and concluded that Tyson should be allowed to box again.

The Las Vegas boxer insisted he needs his Nevada boxing license back because he's in bad financial condition and needs to fight to support his family.

ANOTHER CHANCE: Mike Tyson is back, but it will take some time for him to recapture his ring title.

New Production Celebrates A Dance Genius

The Black Voice News

LOS ANGELES

By Taylor Jordan

"Fosse: A Celebration in Song and Dance" recognizes the incomparable choreographic creativity of dance genius Bob Fosse, the only director in history to win the Oscar, Tony and Emmy awards in a single year.

The celebration continues through Dec. 6 at the Los Angeles Music Center's Ahmanson Theater. Tickets are $22.50 to $65 for performances Tuesdays through Fridays at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 2 and 8 p.m. and Sundays at 2 and 7:30 p.m.

There will also be special performances at 2 p.m. Nov. 12, Nov. 19 and Dec. 3 and at 8 p.m. Nov. 23. There is no show on Thanksgiving Day, and Nov. 26.

Tickets may be purchased at the Ahmanson box office, via charge by phone at (213) 628-2772 or at ETM Ticket machines in Los Angeles and Orange counties and selected malls, Hughes and Pavilions stores. Group sales: (213) 972-7231.

Valarie Pettiford, the actress who won critical acclaim and a NAACP Theater Award for her star turn as the tragic octroon Julie in Harold Prince's Broadway revival of "Showboat," will join former Alvin Alley American Dance Theater member and American Ballet Theater principal dancer Desmond Richardson as the standout stars of "Fosse."

Eugene Fleming, coming directly from the national tour of "Smokey Joe's Cafe," will also star in the musical salute to the extraordinary career of Bob Fosse.

Richard Maltby Jr., co-lyricist for "Miss Saigon" and Tony/New York Drama Critics Circle Award winner for "Ain't Misbehavin'," conceived the

Stewart Hosts "Remembering Slavery"

The Black Voice News

Acclaimed actress Tanea Stewart is hosting a new historical radio series produced by the Smithsonian Institution and the Institute of Language & Culture. The series, "Remembering Slavery," is a first person account of former slaves who survived to tell their stories. The two-part radio documentary is told by the slaves themselves through restored turn-of-the-century recordings and through dramatic readings of written interview transcripts by actors Debbie Allen, Clifton Davis, Lou Gossett Jr., James Earl Jones, Jemma Jones, Esther Rolle, Melba Moore and John Sawyer. The series will broadcast nationally on Public Radio International's 600 public radio stations beginning in October 1998 and will run through the end of February 1999.

In a career spanning twenty years, Tanea Stewart is best-known for her recurring role of Aunt Etta Kibbe in the former NBC series "In the Heat of the Night." She portrayed Samuel Jackson's wife in John Grisham's film "A Time To Kill" for which she won an NAACP Image Award nomination as best supporting actress in 1997, "Mississippi Burning" and sixteen telefilms such as the recent NBC movie of the week "Gramps" which starred Andy Griffith. This fall Tanea will soon begin filming the upcoming telefilm "Mama Flora's Family," a slave saga starring journey in song and dance with Chet Walker, fabled choreographer of "Sweet Charity," "A Chorus Line," "Chicago" and "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas." The third idea person was choreographer Ann Reinking, artistic director of the Broadway Theatre Project and Tony Award winner for the revival of "Chicago."

Maltby will direct, Reinking co-direct and Walker and Reinking will complete choreography for the production.

The concept of presenting Fosse's masterful works with a cast of 36 of Broadway's best dancers sprang from the three's collaborative efforts with an appreciation of Fosse's unique creativity. They shared the vision of re-staging that uniqueness for new audiences and old devotees.

Gwen Verdon, Fosse's widow and the acclaimed artist who won international fame and Tony awards as best actress in the Fosse musicals "Can-Can," "Damn Yankees," "New Girl in Town" and "Redhead," serves as artistic adviser.

In 1973, Fosse became the first director to win No. 1 awards in film, theater and television arts. He won the Oscar for "Cabaret," the Tony for Broadway's "Pippin" and the Emmy for the television special "Liza with A Z." His credits represent the creme de la creme of stage musicals as well as productions for film and television.

Renaissance Jazz Man Comes to Riverside

The Black Voice News

REDLANDS

By Taylor Jordan

Gerald Wilson, the quintessential artist who forged frameworks of modern jazz as one of its primary architects, will appear in concert November 1 at the University of Redlands.

Wilson has remained on and created cutting edge jazz for six decades. His Inland Empire concert is part of the cooperative cultural series presented by the university's School of Music jazz program and KUOR-FM.

Besides the 5 p.m. November 1 concert in Wallichs Theater, Wilson will conduct an open rehearsal Wednesday, October 28, with the university's studio jazz band. The rehearsal from 4 to 6 p.m. is free and open to any interested music student, educator or musician in the Inland Empire. No pre-registration is required for the Watchorn Hall rehearsal.

General admission tickets for the November 1 concert are $20 per person. Golden Circle/VIP tickets are $40 per person. Each pair of VIP tickets includes one copy of Wilson's newest CD, "Theme From Monterey," the commissioned composition penned and performed for Monterey Jazz Festival's 40th anniversary in 1997. Tickets can be reserved and purchased by calling KUOR-FM, (909) 792-0721.

Wilson's track record for achievement and innovations began 60 years ago. His pioneering contributions to music have continued non-stop as a trumpet virtuoso, arranger, composer, bandleader, educator, mentor to younger artists and respected peer of America's premier performers and first family of jazz.

Wilson, 79, was born in Shelby, Mississippi and raised in Detroit from age 14. His professional career began in 1937 and within two years he replaced Sy Oliver in Jimmie Lunceford's band. His musical career has constantly spiraled upward since then, interrupted only by a stint in the U.S. Navy.

During the early 1940s, he played, arranged and composed for Benny Carter, Les Hite, Clark Terry and Ernie Royal before forming his first band in the mid-1940s. In 1948, he joined Count Basie as composer, arranger and trumpeter. A year later, he left to play with Dizzy Gillespie and began a writing partnership with Duke Ellington. His collaborative efforts with Ellington continued until Ellington's death in 1974.

Wilson's knowledge and application of harmony and orchestration, humble willingness to learn from instrumental and compositional masters and adventurous explorations of stylistic innovations and combinations have made him a legend in his own time. Besides countless accolades as a recipient of the Paul Robeson, Downbeat International Critics Poll, National Endowment for the Arts' American Jazz Masters Fellowship and American Jazz awards, Wilson received the rare honor of having his life's work archived by the Library of Congress.

He is the only artist to receive three commissions from the prestigious Monterey Jazz Festival. As a composer/arranger/musician, he has worked with the greats of jazz, including Benny Carter, Gillespie, Basie, Ellington, Sarah Vaughan, Ray Charles, Ella Fitzgerald, Joe Williams, Carmen McRae and Nancy Wilson.

His talents have allowed him to cross stylistic lines, finding equal success in classical compositions and work with Zubin Mehta, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, singer Bobby Darin, pop group El Chicano, Latino rapper Kid Frost and Joel Westmorland's 200-voice interdenominational choir.

Wilson's mentoring efforts and willingness to pass on his acquired knowledge are reflected in three decades as a jazz educator, teaching at Cal State Northridge, Cal State Los Angeles and UCLA and serving as a guest clinician and visiting professor at world events and universities and colleges throughout the U.S.

He has scored movies and

He won the first of his eight Tony Awards as choreographer for "Pajama Game," followed by such Broadway credits as the direction and choreography for "Redhead," "Little Me," "Chicago," "Dancin'," and, for stage and film, "Sweet Charity." He also created the choreography for "Damn Yankees," "New Girl in Town" and "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

For the screen, he choreographed "My Sister Eileen," "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," and was nominated for an Academy Award as best director for "Lenny" and "All that Jazz," the latter also the Cannes Film Festival winner. His writing credits include the book for "Chicago" and the screenplay for "All that Jazz," respective Tony nomination with Fred Ebb and Academy Award nomination with Robert Alan Arthur. His final Broadway show was "Big Deal."

"Bob Fosse's original work has had to be reconstructed," Maltby said. "It's now on paper, all of the steps, how it's done and then some. So, this body of work now exists. That's an achievement in itself."

"And now we've trained 36 dancers. . . . They'll be the people who will be teaching 20, 25 years from now because that's how dance lives," Maltby added. "When we're finished, we will have Bob Fosse's work collected for history. . . . Along the way, we're going to do this great show."

"Fosse" had its world premier engagement in Toronto at the Ford Centre for the Performing Arts and traveled to Boston's Colonial Theater before opening in Los Angeles October 14. Following Los Angeles, it will transfer to Broadway.

Gerald Wilson

television series, most notably Otto Preminger's classic "Anatomy of a Murder" and Redd Foxx's TV show. Superstar peers' respect of Wilson's continuing contributions and commitment to jazz have repeatedly brought them together with him in all-star orchestras where everyone "checks their egos at the door and concentrates on the music."

"Theme From Monterey," a five-part suite, is indicative of Wilson's ability to amass awesome talents into one egoless ensemble. Players for the Redlands concert, many of whom also premiered the piece with him at Monterey last year, include: Snooky Young, Ron Barrows, David Krimsley and Carl Saunders, trumpets; Maurice Spears, George Bohanon, Leslie Benedict and Garnet Brown, trombones; John Stephens, Scott Mayo, alto saxophones; Carl Randall, Louis Taylor, tenor saxophones; Jack Nimitz, baritone saxophone; Brian O'Rourke, piano; Eric Otis, guitar; Trey Henry, bass; and Mel Lee, drums.

Additional information on the University of Redlands concert may be obtained by calling KUOR-FM, (909) 792-0721 or (909) 867-4279.

Proposition 9

would be a big step

for California...

All we'd have to look forward to is higher electric rates and higher taxes.

It's rare that a ballot measure comes along that creates so much opposition from so many different people and groups.

But Proposition 9 would be such a big step backwards in so many ways it's not surprising it has drawn so many opponents.

Some are concerned about the negative impact of Proposition 9 on electric rates. Others are concerned about the huge taxpayer costs resulting from Proposition 9. And still others worry about the fact that Proposition 9 threatens funding for environmentally friendly energy sources.

The bottom line is, Proposition 9 is a backwards step in many, many ways. Between now and the election, look into the facts. When you do, we think you'll join us in voting No on 9.

KEEP THE PROMISE KEEP THE DREAM

Mary Ann Martin Andreas, Tribal Chairperson, Morongo Band of Mission Indians, Hon. Maxine Waters, Daniel Tucker, Chairman, California Nations Indian Gaming Association

Yes on 5

Everyone knows the Indian tribes of this nation have been treated unfairly and forced to survive on reservations and broken promises.

The Indian tribes' struggle for equality is not unlike the dream of civil rights: equal employment opportunities, fair housing, education without discrimination, and all the privileges afforded to American citizens.

Today, California's Indian tribes — left to survive on honor, pride, and self-reliance — have kept alive the promise and dream of quality life through Indian gaming on reservations. Indian gaming has allowed California Indian tribes to provide jobs, build schools, and generate tax dollars that benefit all Californians. That's why over one million voters signed the petition to put the "California Indian Self-Reliance Initiative" — Proposition 5 — on the November 3 ballot.

Those who oppose Proposition 5 include Nevada casinos and back room power brokers whose self-interested attempts to defeat this initiative would create major setbacks to the California Indian tribes and continue a history of broken promises.

Many of us know the feeling of unfair treatment, and we all know the Indian tribes have a history of being treated unfairly. On November 3, a "Yes" on Prop 5 is a "Yes" for fairness. Keep the promise. Keep the dream.
